

Caring Thoughts

Issue 23

12/17/18

all get through this hectic season a touch easier than we would otherwise.

Warmest Regards this Holiday Season,

Corey Strauch

Christmas Carols

My son Steve is belting out the sounds of the season, hitting every note with his delightful toddler voice. The chorus of Jingle Bells is sung and directly followed by Rudolph, ending with Santa Claus is Coming to Town. He blends these verses together in such way that the lines between songs are blurred and unrecognizable. Then he insists that we sing along. After a few rounds I finally figured out the sequence of verses and songs to his liking and the both of us will be going on tour with our act.

It is actually pretty adorable. He'll sit playing or coloring while quietly sing his Christmas jingles. Sometimes when he gets frustrated with the task at hand or if he was recently reprimanded he will sing his songs softly as if to comfort himself. He's own method of self meditation and re-centering.

Just recently I found myself following his method. I was building a built-in Radiator cover and entertainment center for the living room. Every time I would run into a little trouble I'd hear Steve in my head singing away his worries and so I to began singing a few verses of a carol. My go to song is Jingle Bells with the alternative lyrics about Batman, Robin and the Joker.....

The Holiday season brings on a bit of extra stress to all of us, but if we take a page out of Steve's book and just sing our cares away perhaps we can

Angels

Since Christmas is a time for remembering, we are hanging an angel on our tree for all of the families we have served this past year. On behalf of our families and staff, we will provide an angel to these families to hang in their home in remembrance of their loved one. As they and you go through this Holiday Season, we hope this symbol will serve to remind them and you of Holiday's past, and the importance of family.

May the quiet peace of Christmas fill your hearts and home.

Best wishes this Holiday Season,

Corey, Izzy, Emma, Stevie & Joe
